TO FRAME IMMIGRATION RESTRICTION BILL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—The House immigration committee today resumed its work of framing an immigration restriction bill, hoping to have the measure ready soon after the opening of Congress next month.

Representative Johnson, Washington, chairman, and some of the other members of the committee who have just returned from New York, said their inspection of Ellis Island, coupled with information given them by the commissioner of immigration there, had convinced them more than ever of the immediate necessity of restricting immigration.

Johnson is understood to be urging upon other members of the committee the plan of denying entrance to all but blood relatives of naturalized Americans.

WANTS POLAND AND LITHUANIA PUNISHED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GENEVA, Nov. 23.—Lord Robert Cecil today demanded that Poland and Lithuania be punished according to the League of Nations covenant for continuing at war after submission of their dispute to the League.

Cecil demanded the penalties set out in Article 16 of the covenant be inflicted. The article provides that if any member of the League resorts to war in violation of the covenant, it shall be deemed to have committed an act of war against the other members. Punishment is the breaking of all relations.

The assembly passed over the Armenian question in the forenoon session, but Lord Cecil convoked his committee of six for the afternoon to consider it.

TO DISCUSS NEW "ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS"

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Harry M. Daugherty, close friend of President-elect Harding, revealed in a statement today that Harding has invited three Democrats to confer with him at Marion during December regarding a "new association of nations" and the future international policy of the United States. They are Senator Reed, Missouri, irreconcilable, Shields, Tennessee, who favored strong reservations, and Pomerene, Ohio, who in general voted in accord with President Wilson.

HIGHEST DAM IN THE WORLD

WORK TO BE STARTED IN PACOIMA CANYON WITHIN SIXTY DAYS

TO FORM A BIG LAKE

It is promised that work will be started within the next sixty days on what will be the highest dam in the world. It is to be built in Pacioma Canyon, to impound 12,000-acre feet of storm waters and form a lake that will cover ground now occupied by the summer cabins of several Glendale residents. These will have to be moved far up the mountain side where the surroundings will be less picturesque, but where the occupants can look out over a vast lake of sparkling water where many kinds of fish can be caught and boats dart around over the surface. This lake will be about three miles long and its waters will irrigate 5000 acres in the San Fernando valley.

Arthur P. Davis, chief of the United States reclamation service, has formally approved of the project. Before leaving he called attention to the fact that after having built Arroyo Rock dam in Idaho, Roosevelt dam in Arizona and Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico, he will have to stand aside and see J. W. Reagan, county flood control engineer, build one higher by far than these.

Thanksgiving Flowers

Many compliments have been heard for the Glendale Plant & Floral company since they have moved into their new quarters in the Glendale Theatre building. Mr. Kelley has set himself a high standard and is giving Glendale a first-class flower shop. He is ready to render any service that might be expected of a large city flower shop. For the Thanksgiving season the Glendale Plant & Floral company is advertising California holly, flowering plants and chrysanthemums and other autumn flowers.

WILLIAMS-HAINES

NEW ELECTRIC COMPANY OPENED ITS DOORS TO PUBLIC YESTERDAY

The Williams-Haines Electric company opened their doors to the public formally yesterday, having been so rushed with work since they began business two months ago that they couldn't find time to be "at home" to their friends before.

This newest addition to Glendale's list of very good electrical stores is located at 616 East Broadway. C. F. Williams and J. C. Haines, who compose the firm, are men of wide experience in electrical work and are well known in Glendale. They are house-wiring contractors and will specialize in this line of electrical work, although in their sales room will be found all the electrical appliances for the home: electric irons, percolators, washing machines, grills, toasters, etc.

As an adjunct to their large house-wiring business the Williams-Haines company are showing a beautiful line of electric fixtures: lacquer-sprayed bowls and globes in the daintiest of shades and most artistic of color combinations, inverted lighting systems, and, in fact, the newest and most approved of everything in things electrical.

Significant of the great number of new buildings that are being erected in Glendale is the fact that the Williams-Haines company has wired 80 houses since October first, and have been so rushed during the past two weeks that they have solicited no new business at all, being entirely occupied with the orders that have come in to them unsolicited.

The Williams-Haines company is one of the five house-wiring firms now in business in Glendale and, being known for their good work, they are getting their fair share of the great volume of this business now available in Glendale.

Besides adequate floor space to show their goods, the Williams-Haines company have a large basement where the stock is made up.

Change Hour of Service

First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Glendale, will hold the regular Thanksgiving service at the church edifice, corner Maryland and California, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Attention is called to the change of time as it has heretofore been customary to open the service at 11 o'clock.

WORK TO HELP OTHERS

GLENDALE IS SHOWING THE TRUE THANKSGIVING SPIRIT

WELFARE COUNCIL

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS WILL CO-OPERATE IN FILLING BASKETS

Glendale is showing the true Thanksgiving spirit by endeavoring to provide a reason for thankfulness in the hearts of those of her residents who cannot afford to provide a Thanksgiving feast for themselves.

To this end a committee of the Social Welfare Council is meeting today to fill twenty-five baskets which will bring Thanksgiving cheer into as many homes.

All the churches and other organizations in the city that are affiliated with the Council have given liberally of their time and their means to help these less fortunate brothers and sisters. Private individuals have also given their aid, and the students of the intermediate and high schools have shown a helpful interest in the work.

It is the privilege of the grammar grades to give their aid to the Welfare Council at Christmas time, while their elder brothers and sisters of the intermediate and high schools take their turn at Thanksgiving time.

CHOIR PARTY

DELIGHTFUL MUSICALE ENJOYED AT THE JOHNSON HOME

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the Choir club of the Seventh-day Adventist church at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson Saturday evening. This was ladies' night and the following musical numbers were given: Piano duet, "Poet and Peasant," Mrs. W. J. Johnson and Mrs. H. E. Dunbar; vocal solo, "Vellanelle," Miss Leta Fisher; piano solo, "Scarf Dance," Miss Dorothy Roach; ladies' quartette, "You Will Need Jesus Some Day," Mesdames Geo. A. Nelson, C. A. Brandstater, B. Van Tassel A. G. Ingle; vocal solo, "At Dawning," Mrs. H. G. Westphal; piano solo, "Saratelle Caprice," Mrs. C. E. Swartsfager; vocal solo, "Day Is Done," Mrs. Brandstater; piano solo, "The Flatterer," Miss Dorothy Roach.

A musical puzzle exercised the gray matter of the guests for a little while, being a rhyme with omitted words which were to be supplied by terms used in music. Following this some matters of business were discussed, then refreshments of punch and candy were enjoyed. About forty members were present. At the next monthly gathering the gentlemen are to furnish the music.

BRIDGE CLUB

WAS PLEASANTLY ENTERTAINED YESTERDAY BY MRS. GARDNER

The Monday Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Gardner, corner of Central avenue and Milford street, yesterday afternoon. The members present were Mesdames A. W. Beach, Chas. B. Guthrie, Dawson of Pasadena, Fitzgerald of Los Angeles, Sallie Campbell Braden, Roy Hinchcliffe, D. H. Smith, J. Herbert Smith, Whaley, Pulliam, Truitt and Gardner. The first prize, a lovely box of stationery, was won by Mrs. Whaley. A delightful luncheon was served. Table decorations were of autumn leaves and fruit. A very pleasant afternoon was enjoyed.

Mrs. Orth Entertains

Mrs. J. H. Orth of 153 South Central avenue had as her Friday luncheon guests Mrs. Ella James of El Paso, Texas, Mrs. Nettie Douglas of Bakersfield and Mrs. Orth's mother, Mrs. J. W. Graham of Glendale. Table decorations of marigolds were used.

A hunting party composed of Herman Nelson, A. L. Baird, Max Green, Dr. Luccock and Harry McBain motored to Buena Vista Lake Saturday afternoon and returned at midnight yesterday. They brought back fourteen geese and say they saw thousands of them at this place. Hunters, get busy!

FINAL TAPS FOR LIEUT. MEYER

THE ELKS' RITUAL

SOLEMN AND IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT THE CLUBHOUSE AND CEMETERY

From Flanders fields, where poppies grow, home they brought our soldier dead; and yesterday afternoon Glendale paid the last sad tribute to Lieutenant Lester Meyer, who gave his promising young life for you and for me that liberty and justice might not perish from the earth.

The commodious lodge-room in the Elks' clubhouse was filled with Glendale people, who came with mingled feelings of sympathy for Lester's father and mother, love and respect for the lad who was well liked for his manly qualities, and pride in a Glendale soldier who had made the supreme sacrifice.

The casket was draped in the folds of Old Glory and flags were used also on the altar and the platform of the Exalted Ruler. Stately palms lent the touch of restful green, and the flowers sent by sorrowing friends were noteworthy, both for their number and their great beauty.

Among the floral pieces were a large wreath of the daintiest of pale pink roses entwined with smilax and bearing the legend "Our Boy;" a white pillow with a red cross; a large cross of most exquisite blossoms; a huge basket of chrysanthemums in the Elks' colors, purple and white; two great wreaths of the choicest pink and white roses, besides many bouquets of roses, chrysanthemums and carnations.

At two o'clock the opening chords of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" sounded softly through the hall, played by Herbert Henning at the piano, and as the glorious soprano of Miss Gertrude Spang, of Los Angeles, sounded forth the triumphant hymn, members of the American Legion marched in and took their places to the left of the casket.

Exalted Ruler John Fanset began the sadly beautiful and impressive burial service of the Elks, in fraternal recognition of a member of the order who had ever been faithful to its principles of charity, justice, brotherly love and fidelity.

Chaplain J. F. McBryde in his prayer petitioned that we might be inspired by the example of Lester Meyer to better things, and that comfort might come to the hearts of those who mourn for him.

Most impressive was the moment when Lester L. Meyer's name was called and the secretary answered, "Absent."

Rev. Edmonds, of the First Presbyterian church, in his eulogy, recalled the memorial service held when the news of Lester's death came. He referred to the victory gained by the allied nations since that day, and the tremendous price that was paid for it, and said that we, a peace-loving nation, would be ready again if it were ever necessary to save the weak from oppression, to lay down our lives for a righteous cause.

He said that the woof and warp of our national fabric is unselfishness, and that Lester was a typical American in that he was a good soldier, a Christian patriot and a loyal friend. He quoted Kipling's "Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, let we forget,"—forget the deeds of valor of our soldiers, forget the dead who gave their lives to perpetuate the Union.

Lester's life, Mr. Edmonds declared, was an exemplification of brotherhood, and he exhorted his hearers to let this young man's example be to them a spur to greater endeavor, to a life which gives of itself, even as he gave himself to God and his country.

Mr. Edmonds told a beautiful story of a young man who attended a communion service on the eve of his embarking on a transport ship. He was puzzled by the words, "This is My body, broken for you," and asked the chaplain for an explanation. Awed by the tremendous import of the words—a God giving His life to save mankind—he passed out in silence.

In his very first battle this lad was mowed down with hundreds of others. After hours of suffering on the

REACH $1500 IN ROLL CALL

GIFTS OF FROM $5.00 TO $25.00 GRATIFY RED CROSS WORKERS

GLENDALE IS PRAISED

IF YOU HAVEN'T JOINED, THERE IS YET OPPORTUNITY TO BE PATRIOTIC

The fourth annual Red Cross Roll Call will soon be a matter of history. Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, who was in charge of the drive for Glendale, and her band of loyal workers deserve the thanks of all of us for the time and attention they gave the work. When quotas were announced headquarters asked Glendale for 1000 members, but the local committee thought that was not enough for a city of 20,000 people for an appeal such as the Red Cross makes so the mark was voluntarily set at 2000.

This morning $1500 had been turned in to Mrs. Hayward and she feels confident that this amount will be considerably increased when the final returns are in since there are several canvassers yet to make reports.

However, the work of canvassing is practically completed and the workers ask that any who have not been seen and wish to contribute the membership fee leave their dollars at the Glendale Savings Bank, the First National Bank, the Glendale Avenue Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank, the Glendale Evening News office or mail to her.

Mrs. Hayward was quite gratified by five gifts of $5 each, one of $10, one of $12, one of $15 and one of $25, bringing the amount turned in at present to $1500. Further contributions will be thankfully received.

LOOK OUT, SUCKERS

OR THE IOWANS WILL OUTNUMBER YOU THURSDAY MORNING

The unique plan which the Protestant churches of the community have adopted for the Thanksgiving service to be held at the First M. E. church at ten o'clock on Thursday will no doubt bring out a large crowd, and result in the renewal of old friendships among "back East" people who have lost track of each other, and the making of new friends among those who will discover that they have mutual friends back home.

It will be interesting to note what states will have the best showing at the meeting—and from this showing one may make several deductions; one might reckon from this the percentage of those whose fond memories of the old home are strongest; or again, one might use the quota each state supplies as a basis from which to reckon what state has the greatest number of church-goers.

Several years ago The News published names of Glendale residents with their former state homes, taking them state by state. It was supposed that the long list of former Iowa residents would be far and away ahead of all the rest, but lo and behold, it was the Illinois list that led all the rest.

Will the Sucker state lead all the rest at Thursday's meeting? Or have local Iowans, during the last four years, foreseeing with prophetic vision some such occasion as this, gone gumshoeing back to the old home to corral and import to Glendale a sufficient number of Iowans to "put it all over" Illinois on Thursday morning?

They're canny folk, those people from the Hawkeye state. Let Illinois look to her laurels on Thursday.

Old-Timer Returns

M. B. Hartmann, an old resident of Glendale, who went to live with his daughter in St. Paul, Minnesota, when his wife died here a year ago, has returned to Glendale.

Mr. Hartmann arrived yesterday and expressed himself as amazed at the great growth Glendale had made in the short space of one year. He spent the day going over the town, noting the improvements and congratulating himself that he is back home again. Relatives in Whittier attempted to persuade him to locate in their city, but he says Glendale is the place for him.

Mr. Hartmann has an apartment in the J. R. Winters home, on Jackson street.

NAVAL COMMISSION TO INSPECT HARBOR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—The congressional committee on naval bases arrived here today for an official inspection of the harbor and proposed naval improvements here. The committee members, five each from the Senate and the House, will inquire into the adaptability of Los Angeles Harbor for the largest submarine base on the Pacific coast.

Mayor Snyder and other city officials met the congressional party at the Southern Pacific Station. The committee was to go to San Pedro today. Returning, they are to remain here until late tomorrow when they will go to San Diego for an inspection of the harbor there.

TROOPS AND SINN FEINERS STILL SCRAPPING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 23.—Frequent encounters between troops and small bands of Sinn Feiners occurred in the streets of Dublin during the night and early today. The sound of shooting was incessant.

Three Sinn Feiners were killed after an attack on sentries today. Messages from Cork said two Sinn Feiners were shot and one policeman seriously wounded in clashes at Mill Street, county Cork.

Dublin was surrounded today by an entanglement of barbed wire. Back of that line lay troops and police, their machine guns and other arms ready for instant use. Vehicular traffic was suspended entirely.

COUNTRY-WIDE SEARCH FOR J. B. WALLACK

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—A country-wide search for Jacob B. Wallack, alias Jack Bloom, accused of having embezzled $11,000 from Mrs. G. Wichter of Pittsburg, centered here today.

"Y" CONFERENCE

ANNUAL MEET OF OLDER BOYS OF SOUTHLAND; GLENDALE BOYS TO ATTEND

Several Glendale High school boys have already registered for the 16th annual Older Boys' conference for the southern section of the state under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., to be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday next in San Bernardino. These are Clarence Hall, Lee Payne, Fred Stofft, Paul Edmonds, Laufman Jeter, Dale Wood, Wm. Johns, Earl Hammond and Robert Burns. Several other boys are expected to join them. Rex C. Kelley, district secretary, will have charge of the boys from this section and Prof. Alfred Cookman will go along to assist him. It is expected that 300 to 400 boys will be in attendance from the various high school groups of the Southland.

This annual conference of the older boys is for the purpose of training them for Christian leadership and instruct them in Y. M. C. A. methods. While most of the talks will be given by the boys there will also be some adult speakers. Those expected to be present are Arthur Rugh, boys' secretary of China; Judge J. W. Curtis, Chas. C. Chapman, Lynn W. Ballard, Judge B. F. Bledsoe and State Secretary H. O. Hill.

Successful Sale

Mary Jane Gillette Tent—the name has a sort of a home-y sound; and the same quality of home-iness must have been strikingly evident in the goods the ladies of this organization offered at their food sale last Saturday, for no sooner had they unwrapped and placed on display their goodly supply of Boston brown bread and baked beans than presto! they were bought up as fast as the ladies could hand them out. The same thing happened to their pies, cakes, fudge and biscuit.

We were not told who bought these goods. All Glendale housewives are excellent cooks—those of our staff who represent the News at various functions where refreshments are served invariably report tasting cakes that melt in your mouth—but we know the army of tourists in our midst are not so situated that they can cook much, if indeed they could spare the time when there is so much for a tourist to see in beautiful Southern California.

Perhaps this explains why all the goodies made by the Mary Jane Gillette Tent, D. of V., were sold out so quickly that they determined to make twice as many next time.

The sale was under the able management of Mrs. J. V. Griffin, and her competent lieutenants were Mesdames Queen Danner and Winona Crawford.

WEATHER FORECAST — Fair and cool tonight and Wednesday. Light frost probable in exposed places tonight.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE BAZAAR

MEMBERS OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB EXCEEDINGLY BUSY

FRIENDLY RIVALRY

VARIOUS SECTIONS IN RACE TO EARN THE MOST MONEY

Members of the Tuesday Afternoon club are exceedingly busy these days with plans for the coming bazaar to be held in the Masonic Temple on Friday, December 3, the proceeds of which, it is hoped, will go a long way toward the fund for that new club house which all are so anxious to see built. There is a friendly rivalry among the various sections to see which can fix up the most attractive booth and rake in the most dollars.

The Music and Shakespeare section booth, which will be in charge of Mrs. C. L. Marlenee and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, will not have pianos and organs and sets of Shakespeare's works on sale, as might be expected, but instead will display fancy work of every description and charm the dollars from visitors' pockets by the entrancing music of a string quartet which will be esconced in one corner.

The Literary section will not devote its space to blue stockings or time-yellowed manuscripts, but Mrs. A. M. Williams, the curator, will dazzle all beholders with an array of aprons and holders of every known variety and some that are unknown.

The Philanthropic committee, of which Mrs. Leroy Bosserman is chairman, will benevolently display a booth of dolls of every tribe and nation under the sun and doll clothes of infinite variety.

Handkerchiefs of every size, shape and value will dazzle the eyes of visitors to the calling and courtesy committees booth, where Mrs. Frank Ayars and Mrs. Oliver O. Clark will be found in charge.

The decorating committee of which Mrs. Walter Jones is chairman, expects to serve light lunches; the juvenile court committee, presided over by Mrs. E. D. Yard, will feature all kinds of candies, and the hospitality committee, with Mrs. L. W. Sinclair as chairman, will have a cooked food booth, where delicious "eats" can be procured for the family dinner.

Another feature will be the stuffed goose, stuffed not with oyster dressing, but rather with toys to satisfy the children. Mrs. J. T. Crampton will show them how to stuff and also "unstuff" the big bird.

The more than 400 members of the club are showing the greatest enthusiasm in this project and are determined to make of it a most striking success.

A Prisoner's D. S. M.

It is not given to every soldier to win a medal for his faithfulness to duty or his courageous act in a crisis. The soldier who, through no failure on his own part, is captured by the enemy, seems to be denied all opportunity to serve with honor. Edgar N. Halyburton, a North Carolina infantry sergeant, has proved that even the prisoner of war can perform distinguished service.

Sergeant Halyburton was made a German prisoner in November, 1917, and was not released until November, 1918. He was held in various German prison camps during those twelve months. In that time, according to the War Department citation, made public last week, "he voluntarily took command of the different camps in which he was located and, under difficult conditions, established administrative and personal headquarters, organized the men into units, billeted them systematically, established sanitary regulations, made equitable distribution of supplies, established an intelligence service to prevent men from giving information to the enemy, and prevented the enemy from introducing propaganda."

Apparently a man determined to serve his country nobly and effectively cannot be deterred even by wire fences or German war prisons.

It always makes the neighbors more curious if they discover that a man is trying to hide something from them.

It is reasonable to assume that a lot of Russians would rather have a full stomach than be fed up on bolshevism.

Getting Teachers

A large city which used to discourage the continuance of married teachers in its schools is now trying to get these teachers back into the ranks. The vacancies in the school system were so many when school opened this fall that the only remedy was to press into service every former teacher who could be persuaded to resume work.

The authorities do not like the idea, because they have to take into the schools many persons who cannot give the desired length of service. They say they lose time in training teachers of somewhat mature age, who cannot be expected to serve as long as younger members of the teaching staff. The superintendent adds naively: "We have not yet found a fertile field for procuring teachers. It is hard and often a delicate thing to try to persuade a teacher already established elsewhere to give up her position and come to us."

This whole point of view sounds strange to the ordinary citizen. It would seem so much more economical of training to take back experienced, competent, middle-aged women into the schools, women who have learned by having families of their own a great deal more about the growth of the child mind than they could have learned without that experience, than to hire young people who have to be taught pedagogy from the beginning, and who leave in droves after short periods of service. And how could any superintendent, in this day and age, expect to find in some mysterious realm "a fertile field for teachers?" There is not a city or town, not a village or hamlet in the country, which has not had some kind of difficulty with the teacher shortage in the last few years.

There are only two ways to have teachers. One is to attract them to the profession. The other is to keep them when they are in. Many of the good teachers have left because of poor salaries. Many more have left because of authorities who lacked imagination and executive ability.

Age and Teeth

Some enterprising dentist ought to exploit the case of Zora Mehmed. Zora is said to be the oldest man in the world, despite the claims of a certain super-centenarian in Kentucky. He says he is 146. In partial corroboration, he submits a son aged ninety. There is no question that Zora is extremely old. If he were a horse, the question might be settled approximately by his teeth. But he isn't a horse, and he hasn't any teeth of his own. Moreover, on second thought, a horse as old as Zora probably wouldn't have any teeth either—so there you are.

But to the point! This venerable patriarch has been having a bad spell of indigestion, and it's all on account of those same teeth. He ruined the original set during the Napoleonic wars, by lifting a 500-pound weight with them. He worried along without any for a generation or two, and then took to false teeth, and thus managed to get through another half-century. Then twenty years ago he bought a new set, and these, he explains, have made trouble for him, until finally the difficulty of mastication resulted in the aforesaid indigestion.

"When I get a new set of teeth that fit," says Zora, "I'll be all right for another half-century." And maybe he will. Nothing promotes longevity more than through mastication, the doctors say.

The profiteer may be depended upon to expose attempts of the old firm of Supply and Demand to resume business.

The great economic problem of the average individual is to bring his earning ability up to his spending capacity.

A Chicago man has left a thousand dollar sto his barber, who probably had the faculty of knowing when not to talk.

A man can usually retain his friends longer by letting them discover a few things for themselves.

Mrs. H. M. Hewitt of 1028 North Louise street was hostess to the Foothill club Friday afternoon at the Philharmonic Orchestra concert in Los Angeles. This was followed by an afternoon tea. Eleven ladies attended.

The annual turkey distribution took place at the Elks' club last evening when one hundred and fifty turkeys were disposed of. A nice sum of money was contributed toward the Christmas fund, which will be used for preparing Christmas baskets for the poor.

Judge H. M. Miller and wife and son Ray, 202 East Elk avenue, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Brandt of 378 West California St. and Mrs. Kemp, motored to Redondo Sunday. Mr. Brandt is a construction engineer and at present is at work on the two large office buildings being erected at Sixth and Olive streets, Los Angeles.

THEY VISIT HOME

MR. AND MRS. CRIST REPORT THE 74 ORPHAN CHILDREN WELL CARED FOR

Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Crist made a trip yesterday to La Verne to visit the David and Margaret Home and to take to the little dwellers in the home a box containing nice new aprons for the girls and nice new waists for the boys.

These garments were made by Mrs. Crist's class, the J. O. C. class, and Mrs. Torrey's class, the Sisterhood, and the same ladies are preparing another box to send to help clothe the 76 children who are being cared for in the home.

The thank offering for the home missionary society was taken last Sunday. The amount given was gratifyingly great, and money for this fund is still coming in.

Mr. and Mrs. Crist report the home in fine shape.

Mrs. Dubel's Funeral

Funeral services for Mrs. J. B. Dubel, who died of pneumonia at her home, 415 West Colorado street, were held from the Jewel City Undertaking parlors on North Brand boulevard this afternoon.

The Reverend W. W. Cookman, pastor of the West Glendale M. E. church, officiated and the beautiful music was furnished by Miss Aretta King Nelson.

Mrs. Dubel's passing is mourned by her husband and two little boys, and also by a large number of relatives, who attended the funeral; her own brothers and sisters, Hiram Iman, Susie Iman and Barbara Iman, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smith, of Long Beach; Ephraim Iman, of Los Angeles; John Iman and family, of Santa Ana; Mr. Dubel's relatives, among whom were his mother, Mrs. Susan Dubel, of La Verne; Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Abbott, of Corona; Fred Dubel and family of Pomona, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maxwell, of Pomona.

Reported Collision

The automobile belonging to Roy Green, of 632 East Broadway, is reported to have suffered considerable damage this morning in a collision with another car on Avenue 64, in Pasadena. The car was driven by Mrs. Berry, and no one was injured.

Thanksgiving Mass

A Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated on Thursday at the Catholic church at the usual hour for the weekday Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Truitt of 317 West Doran street were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Beach at their cabin in the Arroyo Seco over Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker returned last evening from a two weeks' visit to Antelope Valley, where she was the guest of her nephew, Donald Franklin.

Mrs. Ella Griffin, of 130 West Acacia avenue, was hostess at a dinner party on Sunday. Guests of honor were Mrs. Edward Alexander and her little sons, G. E. and Lester, and the sister of the hostess, Mrs. John Mathis.

Earn Their Own Way

(By United Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 23.—The report of the Harvard University students' employment bureau shows that Harvard men earning, or helping to earn, the money to pay their way through college, are working as carpenters, clerks, reporters, ushers, ticket-sellers, monitors, proctors, night watchmen, choremen, tutors, salesmen, librarians, waiters, and stenographers.

The employment bureau has made public its report for last year when Harvard men who secured positions through the bureau earned $77,000, an increase of $16,000 over the previous year. The total amount earned by students securing employment through the bureau and those who found positions from other sources was estimated at $150,000.

Applications for positions this year have shown a marked increase. This is attributed in part to the effects of the war and its lessons in the value of education.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who was so modest that he took the short end of the deal?

The man who is asked to go in on the ground floor in an enterprise should be sure that it is on the level.

CAN NOT WORK MIRACLES

The people of the United States should learn that no political party can perform miracles. Certain economic laws operate in spite of legislation, and no political legerdemain can change these conditions. Slight changes in policy may bring about small improvements, but hardly ever to the extent that is expected.

The tendency of prices is downward, and economic experts express the belief that the next few months will see a substantial decrease in the cost of living. Lower prices will make it somewhat easier to meet the cost of living, but these changes will not have any effect on the national debt, which must be paid in dollars that will be worth more than they were when the government contracted its obligations.

TAPS FOR LT. MEYER

field, he was borne back to a base hospital, where the doctors, in the hope of saving his life, amputated both his legs. As he came out from under the anaesthetic, he looked up with a radiant face as though he was looking into the face of his Father, and saying, "This is my body, broken for You," he died.

In fancy, said Mr. Edmonds, we may see Lester Meyer, with other brave soldiers who died, looking up into the face of the Father and saying, "This is my body, broken for You, and Your cause." As He died to make men holy, they have died to make men free.

Each brother Elk, passing the casket, placed on it a small bouquet of amaranth and ivy—amaranth, signifying their belief in immortality, ivy for remembrance.

Miss Spang and Mrs. Arnold sang "Abide With Me" during this part of the ceremony.

The services closed with the singing of "We Shall Meet, but We Shall Miss Him," by all the brother Elks, and the body was tenderly carried out by Captain J. L. Flint, Lieutenants Jesse Smith, J. H. Witmeyer, H. G. Bracken, Robert Plume and Harry MacPherson.

The long cortege wended its way slowly down Brand boulevard, the American Legion marching as an escort to the body, a long line of automobiles following. This was one of the largest funerals ever held in Glendale, if not the largest.

A brief but impressive ceremony according to the ritual of the Elks' lodge was held at the grave, followed by a prayer by Reverend Edmonds.

A squad from the American Legion fired the military salute, and as the body of Lester Meyer was consigned to its final resting place a bugler sounded taps. From far away over the hills came the echo, like a voice faintly heard from another world.

Lower Wages

Clothing manufacturers, forced to lower prices to induce the public to buy their product and keep the factories running, declare that they cannot make the necessary reductions unless their production is materially increased. That puts the matter up to the employes.

The same position is taken, with apparent justice, in several other industries, and may be taken by all industries sooner or later. First the employer's profiteering has to be eliminated, where it exists; then, finding himself down to hard-pan, it it natural for the employer to ask his workmen to share the burden.

That burden can be shared in two ways. The workman can lower the cost of production by speeding up their work, as employers have been urging them to do, or they can accept a reduction in wages.

One or the other is inevitable. If they do neither, there will be closed factories and, in great numbers of cases, no work at all.

It is always a question to what extent the workman can or should increase his output. It is widely admitted that there was a good deal of easing up on the part of labor during the last year or two. Now most of the bad slacking seems to have disappeared, and industrial employes in nearly all lines are working more steadily and effectively. Still, it is believed that the majority could work a little harder without self-injury or hardship.

This, if it can be safely done, is the ideal way to meet the situation. If workmen can keep their boom wages as prices sag and living cheapens, they will enjoy incomparably the greatest prosperity they have ever had. If they are awake to their own interests, they will put forth effort accordingly. If they will not or cannot speed up general production, they will have to reconcile themselves to having their war wages sink along with the war prices.

It is only when the judge says a year in the workhouse that some men actually realize that honesty is the best policy.

A crank is a person who wants us to do the things we do not want to do.

Some persons call it luck, but the one who actually succeeds adds another letter and calls it pluck.

Fairy Tale

A veritable fairy tale of science is unfolded in an interview given out by the mayor of Pueblo, Colo., after a journey from Denver to Pueblo by airplane. He compares the trip with one he made half a century ago. At the time of the first journey Denver was a town of not more than 3000 people. The trip to Pueblo was made in an oxcart, the travelers did not meet a soul on the journey, not even an Indian. The mayor made the airplane flight in fifty minutes.

The remarkable developments of the last fifty years suggest a peep into the future fifty years hence. Will New York people slip away on Saturday afternoons for week-end visits at California or Mediterranean resorts? Will a woman by that time have achieved the presidency of the United States? Will tuberculosis have been wiped off the earth? Will wireless telephony have been so perfected that it will be possible at will to get into communication with a friend, wherever he may be?

Anyone with an imagination can conceive of other developments as strange or fascinating as those indicated in these questions, and remote or incredible as their realization a half century from now appear to be, they will be no more improbable than would have been the statement of the mayor of Pueblo, as he made that toilsome journey of six weeks in an oxcart, that fifty years later he would fly over the same course in fifty minutes.

One of the sources of trouble is that there is such a difference between what a lot of persons want and what they deserve.

As long as Europeans go spooking around with guns looking for trouble they will be sure to find it.

Nearly every person has a different idea of what constitutes Americanism, but all agree that the immigrant should be fed up on it.

EARLY SHOPPING

IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR IN CHRISTMAS SHOPPING, NOT AN IDLE APPEAL

The slogan, "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early," has been repeated so often that most persons do not take it as seriously as it deserves. Large numbers of them regard it as a plan of the merchants to sell goods out of season, rather than to be of service to the individual.

The people of this country are generous purchasers of gifts at the holiday period, and many of them are inclined to go to the limit of their financial inclination, and sometimes ability, in order to buy the gifts which they desire for members of their families or for friends.

The argument for doing holiday buying early—even so early as the present, when prices on many useful articles are being marked much lower than they have been for some time—are just as sound as they were when the early buying proposal was first made. Many articles suitable for holiday gifts are being offered at lower prices now than they probably will be when the holiday spirit becomes infectious.

Nearly all merchants would much rather have the buying for holiday purposes cover a number of weeks than to crowd the business into the ten days before Christmas. And there is reason to believe that adoption of the practice by many more persons would be found just as satisfactory to the buyer as to the seller.

Persons who are looking for bargains in staple articles for holiday gifts should not retain the idea that it is too soon to obtain bargains in the things they seek. Toys and other articles of a more strictly holiday character will be on display in due time, but the wise buyers will be found "looking around a bit" even before the merchants themselves feel strongly for pressing the injunction to "buy early."

Good Postal Service

Only the most partisan citizens will fall into line with the suggestion that large numbers of postmasters, now under civil service rules, be removed to make room for political appointments. It may be true, as has been charged, that President Wilson's zeal for the civil service became acute after the best offices had been filled by Democrats, but nothing is to be gained by receding in the effort to take the postal service out of politics.

Advocates of the merit system in the postal service have had a long, hard fight to reach even the present degree of recognition of the principle of civil service. The spoils system has never made for efficiency in the public service, and there is no reason to believe that the change from one party to another will justify using the postal service as a means of rewarding political workers.

The public wants efficiency in the postoffice department, and it is not greatly interested in the political affiliations of the postmasters or the persons working under them. Congress should take the action necessary to bring about an improvement in the postal service, such as increasing the pay of employes to attract better workers and retain those most capable.

Postmasters should be business men, not politicians or persons who seek the position as reward for political service alone. No postmaster should be permitted to retain his office if he is required to look to his subordinates for the ability required to run the office in a business-like manner.
